IPL (INTENSE PULSED LIGHT)

FOR DRY EYE

IPL treatments use pulses of light to treat a common cause of dry eye—meibomian gland dysfunction. It liquifies hardened oil that can plug glands, clearing it and stabilizing the tear film. It also kills bacteria and mites and decreases inflammation by closing abnormal blood vessels—the root cause of most dry eye issues. Radio Frequency (RF) treatments can be included with IPL if deemed appropriate. Some people enjoy having a full-face photo facial added on to the dry eye treatment to address facial issues.

IPL (INTENSE PULSED LIGHT)

FOR PHOTOFACIALS

IPL is a non-invasive skin treatment that utilizes broad-spectrum light to target various skin concerns. It can undo some of the visible damage caused by sun exposure, called photoaging. Applications for IPL include hyperpigmentation from sun damage, vascular lesions and rosacea. Age spots, blood vessels and fine lines can be addressed with this treatment. IPL is also an effective treatment on a person's hands, arms and décolleté.

MICRONEEDLING WITH RADIOFREQUENCY

Microneedling is a cosmetic procedure that is used to encourage collagen and elastin production; using small, gold-plated needles to create micro injuries with radiofrequency to the skin. This process stimulates the body's natural healing, leading to increased collagen and elastin production. This process is used to address concerns such as fine lines and wrinkles, superficial acne scars and pores.

RESURFX

The ResurFX fractional laser is a state-of-the-art non-ablative, skin resurfacing technology. ResurFX stimulates the production of new collagen and elastin. By using light energy to provide medical-grade treatment, ResurFX can reduce the appearance of wrinkles and scars without the typical downtime of true lasers. Stimulating new collagen production is the key to more radiant, youthful-looking skin.

SMOOTHGLO

If you are looking for a treatment that targets the biggest signs of aging—SmoothGlo is for you. This sequential treatment helps with tone, texture and volume. IPL delivers pulses of therapeutic light to destroy unsightly pigment and blood-filled capillaries; while microneedling/ResurFX promotes collagen, elastin and natural hyaluronic acid. The end result is a younger-looking you. This treatment is also beneficial for hands!

TRILIFT

TriLift is the first treatment on the market to use Dynamic Muscle Stimulation which targets and tones facial muscles to reduce facial wrinkles, smooth and resurface the skin, and achieve a face lift—like effect without surgery and without downtime. In addition, microneedling/ResurFX are used to achieve optimal results by promoting collagen and elastin growth. Like any muscle, your facial muscles need stimulation/exercise to be stronger and toned. This technology offers the most complete package to achieve a more youthful appearance and improved skin quality.
